About me

I am a 4th-grade Economics student, and I'm trying to understand almost every subject that touches on the economy and finance. Also, I'm really into philosophy, modern art, photography, architecture and history. I have played amateur basketball since my childhood, 3 years of which were legends. I believe I've got impressive communication, interacting with people, and leading them. I'm usually a mix of realistic and optimistic, always trying to see the bright side of things. I'm analytical, curious, love to research, and I'm a bit of a rational dreamer too.
